Test Anywhere, Anytime

Expand the reach of your data collection by letting Compusense® commuter take you where you need to go.

Compusense commuter takes Compusense® five to the next level: It extends your reach by enabling data collection via a laptop, tablet or PC anywhere, anytime. Leave any concerns you have about bandwidth and connectivity at home. When you get there, put Compusense *commuter to work for you. The world's foremost sensory and consumer testing software is now where you need it to be.

Freedom to test anywhere, anytime.

Compusense commuter provides more mobility than ever before. All you need is the Compusense *commuter file, a laptop, tablet or PC, and a power supply.

The same results and standards you've come to trust with Compusense five – but now even faster.

You'll have immediate, reportable results from the field. And keeping standards consistent is easy – design the test once and provide it to all your testers across the country or around the world.

The type of test you need.

Compusense commuter will meet your needs for attended and consumer-initiated tests – you determine and design the test style you need.

Consumer-initiated tests are easier than ever before.

Compusense commuter is the right solution for home use tests, mall intercepts, walk-by taste tests and point-of-sale programs that attract consumers.

Compusense commuter gives you the green light for:

- Consumer research
- Market research
- Sensory testing
- Product testing in new markets – regionally, nationally or internationally
- Teams of researchers in different locations
- Consumer-initiated tests
- Point-of-use
- Point-of-purchase
- Mall intercepts
